THE AWAKENING OF GREAT NATION.

TRADE, INDUSTRIES, AND RE-SOURCES OF CENTRAL AND NORTHERN CHINA AND MANCHURIA.

[FROM AN AMERICAN SOURCE.]

While the present war has been the mankind, it has also been one of the world has ever known. It has affected, directly or indirectly, every nation on earth, and, through the dire necessity all humanity. The impetus, too, which it has given to nearly all peoples will Vice-President of the Bankers Trust Comnot have been spent by the time peace is declared, and, unquestionably, will result in a great world-wide development. The possibilities, indeed, are plainly forecasted to-day in China, which is one of [946] the very richest fields awaiting commercial, industrial and financial cultivation. The steadily increasing influx of foreigners into China since the beginning of the war is significant of vast future potentialities, as well as of the fundamental and far-reaching political and social changes which are transforming China into a country of attractive business and investment opportunities. THE PROPOSED LOAN. The proposed loan of $50,000,000 China by the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan, which has been sanctioned by our State Department, will active part as one of the All s in the war against Germany, but will also aid materially in the economic and financial rehabilitation of the country. "It will tend indirectly, but, nevertheless, potentialy, to foster trade relations between the Chinese and the lending nations, and lay the basis for the future participation of the latter in the development of China.

And, through the expansion of China's commerce, the ships which the pressing needs of war are sending down the ways along our Pacific coast will find profitable cargoes, when peace is established. As a consequence, lour scaports on the great western ocean will steadily grow more important and prosperous. With a view to active participation in he development first of the northern part of Chine particularly, the Asia Bunking Corporation was recently formed. Among the stockholders of the new company are the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, the Bankers Trust Company, the Mercantile Bank of the Americas, the Angle and Loudon, Paris National Bank San Francisco, the First National Bank of Portland, Oregon, and the National Bank of Commerce of Seattle, Branches of the Corporation will be established in Shanghai, Peking, Tienal tsin, Hankow, Harbin and Vladivostock -strategie trado centres.

The territory to be reached by the Asia Banking Corporation has a variety resources and a variety of climatic conditions, varying from the cool temperate section of northern Manchuria to the enable China not only to take a more sub-tropical section of the area tributary to Hankow and Shanghai in the South. Manchuria in the North is primarily an agricultural section, resembling Dakota in climatic and physical features, with an area greater than New York, Pennsylvania and Texas combined. The principal agricultural products are beans, maize, millet, wheat, wool, tobacco; hem and rice. The agricultural products which figure mainly in the export trade are beans; bean cake, bean oil, and cerears. Manchuria has large areas of virginforest, but adequate transportation lacking to make the timber resources of much commercial value! Mineral wealth abundant, Southern Manchuria being one vast coal field. The Fushun mine is probably the best known of those now in operation, with 20,000 workers. It'is estimated that the seams which are being worked contain approximately 800,000,000 tons of easily accessible coal. Coal is found quite generally in the northern part of Manchuria, but primitive mining methods and luck of adequate capi tal have prevented the full development of coul mining in this section. China, at its present stage of development, is mainly an agricultural country. The great plains of the north-east forming a great half circle with the Shantung peninsula at the centre, and the extensive flood, plains of the lower Yang. tze constitute the only large plains areas in China, which comprise scarcely oneeighth of China's surface. Elsewhere only the narrow flood plains and small deltas relieve the usual monotony of the slope and mountain regions. The north ern or great plains constitute for the most part the Hwang-ho delta, reaching inland for 400 miles. The Yangtze plain extends inland in a series of basins for 600 miles, separated from the great northern plains by ranges of hills and mountains. These two plains coalesce, however, in the east so that continuous wide plains extend from Hang-Chow to Peking, a distance of about 750 miles. The Yangtzo plain extends inland 1,000 miles. These extensive plains equal in area that of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Kentucky, and constitute the great agricultural resources of Chins. They now support an enormous population fully 40 per cent. of China's total-and furnish food and raw materials for export Among the most extensively cultivated, agricultural products of Northern and Central China are soya beans, rice, cotton, ten, silk, ground nuts, hemp, juto, castor oil, apricots, etc. Of farm products, eggs, egg albumin, feathers, etc. are exported in great quantities. Animal products such as furs, wool, skins and hides, goat skins, and bristles form very portant part of China's exports. MINERAL ERBOURCES.

Generally speaking there is a variety of mineral resources in most of the provinces of China and scientific surveys are almost sure to reveal mineral deposits now unknown, even to the Chitiese. The most abundant mineral deposits of the country consist of cost and ron. The largest coal area in Northern China consists of the Shan-si field occupyng the province of that name but extend ing into the neighbouring provinces of Honan, Child-lin Shen at, and Kan au This territory lies Centward of the raticond. line extending from Hankow to Peking-It has been estimated that in this flok there were more than 30,000 square miles of coal. The coul of the eastern section is mainly anthracite, while that he the Characty Trint Company of New York, western part is historiaque. It is assected by experts that there is sufficient fuel there to supply the whole world for thousands of years. The authracite area several coal fields accessible to railroads and to sea transportation, which are being extensively operated at present. To the south of Hankow is another important coal area located in the province of Kiang-si which is being mined now to supply the Government iron works > in China, and is often found closely associated with it. Ho-nan, to the north, and Kiang-si, to the south, of Hankow, are reported to be rich in iron ore." The the Hanyehping Company, which are located at Hankow, and which produce approximately 150,000 tons of pig iron yearly. The extent and quality of the from ore deposits of China are not dein Chica are quite similar to those of the United States and Brazil'. Antimony also appears to be very abundant in Ho-nan and Kiang-si, and there is a considerable export trade of this metal. Clay deposits are found quite extensively in the north-custern section of the province of Kiang-si and furnished material for the important pottery industry that has grown up there. Among other minerals mined in China are gold,

Like coal, iron is widely distributed silver, sulphur, asbestos, tin, lead, etc., THE AWAKENING OF A NATION.

China has occupied a place of more or less complete separation from the rest the world. The mountain areas the North-West, West, and South-West impeded communication with transacted through the seaports of this peoples of those sections, while the great expanse of the seas has restricted the relations with the peoples across the water. Thus the Chinese, of all the large nations, have been allowed to live a life, of isolation, which, in certain re-"spects, has led to stagnation, rather than growth of industry. But China is gradually awakening and is opening for the development of her immense resources, of which sheehas little definite knowledge. A considerable portion of central and northern China has passed through the agricultural stage," and is ready to enter the "industrial stage. The supply of cheap and industrious labour, a variety of natural resources, and sufficient food immediately available, constitute a remarkable combination of economic factors awaiting the touch of industrial and financial leadership. It is a rare opportunity in China's history's The Asia Banking Corporation, will form another link between America and China and will play a constructive part in opening the way for trade, capital, and the formation of a better spirit between the Occident and the Orient.

DO ONE THING PROPERLY. A Hint Regarding Work and Health.

The people who most often succeed in life are not those versatile souls who can turn their hands to anything-Jack of all trades, master of nonc-but those who devote themselves to doing one thing only and doing it well. So it is with business. Not only people get rich by turning a sewing-machine which will make anything you like; but fortunes are made by an automatic machine that turns out just one little bolt or screw all

In medicine that which does the most good is the one which does one thing only, and does it well-that is, Dr. Williams' r'nk pills for pale people, which make good, rich plentiful red blood, and nothing else. All the good effects which famous result from their wonderful power of blood-making. The firm step, steady nerves, hearty appetite, improved brain-power, iron-clad digestion, firm, red lips, and clear eye, that are conspicuous when Dr. Williams pink pills are taken-all come from the rich, red blood that they make. "If you are ailing or losing energy you will do well to obtain Dr. Williams pink pills now. Any dealer can supply you, or sent direct, one bottle for $1.50, six for 88, post free, by the China Offices of the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

How and why Dr. Williams' pink pills achieve their wonderful results is explained in a free book, "The Blood and its Work," for which you should send a post card to the above address.

INCITING TO SHOOT THE POLICE.

Li Loi was indicted on three charges -(a) robbery by two or more man, (b) soliciting to shoot with intent to resist arrest, and (c) soliciting to strike with intent to resist arrest. The Crown Solicitor (the Hon. Mr.

J. H. Kemp), prosecuted. The prisoner was undefended.

Putting, it shoully, the Crown Scheiter. said, the prisoner was charged with three crimes, the third count being a of forging a land deed and variation of the second one. The first charge, which was robbery with other gold bar brooch on the Star Ferry on persons, called gang robbery, was comcase a money changer was scated in his shop at 8 o'clock and someone came in and, pretending to change money, pointed a revolver, and rifled his shop. The master of the shop would say that the robbery took place by some one. The peculiar point of this case was that the only evidence that could be produced was prisoner's own confession. The confession was made under circumstances A. E. Scott. which the Crown Solicitor considered satisfactory, It was made after due caution, and he thought the jury would be satisfied that the confession their services in conquering was true. What he said on the robbery charge was: "I did take part snatching the money. Lung Sa Kwai did not take the money. I and Lun Kwong anatched the money." The confession was made a day, after his arrest. The other crime was that of inciting another man to attack the Police when they came to arrest the prisoner. That was to know that Major Garibaldi of the on the 14th instant. On that day the Police arranged to make a raid on a certain tea-house at "Yaumati. The arrangement was that a man called Li Fat should go in first and sit down in a ten shop. there and help in arresting the prisoner. Li Fat went into the ten-house, sat down at one table while the prisoner with another was seated on a table further on near the Ikitchen wall. The prisoner saw the Police come and sat up. Li Fat, seeing that the prisoner was attempting to pull out his revolver, seized him. The prisoner called out "Shoot him" two or three times making a motion with his hand Lung Sai Kwap, his confederate. Fat then pulled prisoner in front of his accomplice to avoid being shot. STARVED BRITISH PRISONERS FROM GERMANY.

WAR-HARDENED FRENCHMEN HORRIFIED.

MANY RELEASED PRISONERS DIE ON THE ROADSIDE.

Landon, Nov., 10. Renter's Correspondent at French Headquarters, telegraphing yesterday, says:-

Thousands of war prisoners, mostly British, are entering France daily. I have never seen human beings in such a state of raggedness, hanger and misery. When the camps at Farbuck and elsewhere on the Rhine were broken up the prisoners, mostly captured in the March offensive were told to clear out and seek the help of their Allies. They started towalk distances of from 50 to 60 miles and were not given food, not even a mouthful of bread. They had nomoney and were in shameful rugs. The soles were dropping off their boots or they were clogs, without socks. They left in droves of hundreds in charge of officers and soldiers who deserted after a few hours. The weather being very cold, many died on the roads de a few miles from.

When the survivors entered the French lines the Frenchmen, hardened to harrors of war, were horrified to see men in such plight. It is undoubted that the British were made the suffer thus intentionally, All the prisoners, of whatever nationality, agree that the British were tworks treated than the others at all German cames.

The correspondent adds that the imperative néed of the moment is to bring home to Herr Ebert and Herr Scheidemann and other socalled Socialists that Great Britain has power to exact retribution for all this devilry.

SCOTTISH LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

EDINBURGH, Sept. 30. BOLSHEVISM ON THE CLYDE. Once more the Clyde is the centre of industrial unrest, on this occasion of the most dangerous character. The shipwrights, in defiunce of onstituted Tinde Union authority, lave taken the aw into their own hands and censed work at a time when they should be producing the most necessary ingredient of victory for the Allies-more ships. Their claim is for a minimum wage of £5 per Week; their present wage is about 73s. mand this might be considerably increased if they consented to piecework methods.

. The fact is that the Clyde shipwrights; the great majority of whom are loyal and anxious to do their duty, have again allowed themselves to be led away by a test noisy extremists, who, in furtherance of Bolshevist or pacifist views, foment every grievance at every possible opportunity, Most of these men, but for their occupation, would be in the Army. They have not been eniled upon to show courage, and they decline to show industry. They are not interested so much in the improvement of trade conditions as in the creation of an atmosphere of unrest. The great mass of the Trade Unionists are themselves to blame for all this trouble. They have failed to take an active part in the runnigement of their Unions, and have allowed these bedies to drift into the hands of men who, do not represent the real feelings of the workers, and take every pecasion to create trouble.

The attitude of the shipwrights is the more deplorable in view of the men in the United States. That country has, for the first time, exceeded the shipbuilding output of the United Kingdom-a gratifying fact from the point of view of the Allies, but one which should cause some reflection on the part of those who are interested in maintaining the shipbuilding pre-eminence of this country after the war.

THE NEW MURMANSK.

A TRAYELLER'S GLIMPSE.

[An Englishman who has recently seturned to England from Titlis, in the Caucasus, by way of Moscow, Archangel and Murmansk, souds the " Manchester Guardian " the following account of his experience after reaching Moscow.] We arrived in Moscow on the 13th June. The city was outwardly quiet at I that finte, but it was evident that considerable surgest prevailed and that troubles might start at any time. Most of the shops, especially provision shops, were more or less empty of food, and it I was extremely difficult to obtain supplies. A very meagre lunch cost Rls.40 or Bls.50, and a dinner anything from Rls.70 to Rls.100. Some few of us were lucky enough, thanks to the help of the British Consulate, to find accommodation with English families still living in Moscow, and fared comparatively well, and he writer has a special debt of gratitude to English friends living in the city.

The town bore many traces of the troublous times through which it had becently passed-very few whole sheets f glass remaining in the big shops on the Tverskaja, Kuznetski Most, etc., many of the shop fronts being completely bourded up. Parts of the Kremlin had suffered, and the Hotel Metropole on the Theatre Square was budly damaged, Svidently by shell fire. Still, in spite of everything, business was being carried on, and the boulevards in the evenings were crowded as of old with the winter

On the 22nd of June we joined a party of about forty Britishers in a special waggon and left for Archangel. We should have been well advised to go straight to Murmanyk, but rumour had it that the line had been broken somewhere above Vologda. However, we arrived in Archangel on the 25th of June and were given accommodation as one of the local schools, fugether with a large party of French refugees. After several hours" delay, and in the early morning, we were allowed to proceed escorted by the Russian, and British yachts. The steamer we were on had cabin accommodation for perhaps 30 to 40 people, and as we swere at least 600 we had to make the best of things either on deck one on rough benches in the hold. Most of us preferred the cold on deck to the smells of the hold, and as, naturally, there was no darkness at this time of the year we did not fare so badly, although the wind was arctic. All heaved a sigh of relief as we cleared for the open sen, and our feelings were still more relieved when we arrived ut Kandalaksha and saw for the first time British and French troops in occupation. MURMANSK TRANSFORMED.

Arrangements, were quickly made for trains to take us to Murmansk, where COAL, GENERAL IMPORTS and we arrived on the 18th July .. Here we were met by members of the British and French Consular staff, who had an anged accommodation for us in wooden barracks on the hill overlooking the harbour. Each nationality-British, French. Belgian, and Italian-hadrits own barrack-hut, which, although rather overcrowded and more or less infested with vermin, was at least warm and dry. Here we had to stay until the 6th o August, each but sending its own orderlies each day for army rations for the party, which were issued by the British military authorities under authority from the Consulate. The men of the party of military age (from 18 to 51) were nearly all requisitioned by the military, chiefly for use as Russian interpreters. Within two or three days from our arrival we saw our uwkward squad already in "uniform, drilling on the pier. About week's training was evidently considered sufficient for the duties they had to perfitted out for Archangeli." We had the Murmansk reminded us of what we had read of the mushroom towns of America, From an insignificant fishing village it is being rapidly transformed into a bush port, with its harbour full of Lieutenant of Caithness, where he shipping, crowds of wooden houses being built, streets laid out, railway lines being extended here and there, and extra quays being constructed to deal with the ships which are constantly arriving. ACTIO

TYERE is a story of Action, none more noble, thrilling, daring, self-sacrificing in the history of the war. These men went out on the eve of St. George's Day 1918 to do two things—to stop, in some measure, the German submarine menace and to prove yet once again to all the world that the British Navy is the same in spirit, the same in genius, the same in noble self-sacrifice as it was in the days of Nelson and far down the ages. And they did them both. They succeeded with the fullest measure of brilliant success. They went out to greet what they regarded: as certain death, they stormed the breakwater of Zeebrugge, blocked the Bruges Canal and inscribed such a story of action on the annals of the great war as will be told and retold long after the present generation has passed from the scene. They made history. Did they hesitate? No. Had they hesitated the great adventure would have failed.

Now, it is your turn to Thousands of young fellows have been maimed in this war. The heroic, noble and monumental work of restoring the wounded to their wonted activities typifles the great human and humane side of the struggle. We have won a great victory, but at a terrible price. The work of healing the human wreckage calls for all the help and support—all the action—that true allegiance to the cause of civilization can give. Do not hesitate. There was no hesitation on the part of the boys. Signalise your appreciation of all they have done for you by a little self-sacrifice for them. They will appreciate it; and don't forget that you cannot give too much.

Heather Day, St. Andrew's Fair and the War Bond Drawing offer an unique opportunity for residents of Hongkong to send a Victory Offering to help the great work of the hospitals.

> Make the 29th November a day to remember.
